

ESNtrain: Join Europe's longest rolling communication platform

In 2009 The Erasmus Student Network (ESN), one of the biggest interdisciplinary student associations in Europe, celebrates its 20th anniversary.

As one of the celebration activities of Happy Birthday ESN, the ESNtrain project arises as Europe's longest rolling communication platform. It will give participants the chance to experience and learn about European cultures and to get in touch with local people.

The ESNtrain consists of 16 wagons and will cross Europe during 25 days, from March 28th to April 21st 2009. Visiting 40 cities in 18 countries and passing by 90 UNESCO World Heritage, the travels will be made mainly during the night, so that participants will have the pleasure to wake up in a different city every day.

The ESNtrain can provide beds for 700 people, but as the participation concept was built in a modular way, it enables about 5,000 people to travel for all or parts of the journey.

Since the opening of the registration opened for exclusively for ESN affiliates in December 18th 2008, there's has been a great demand for places in the train and even more are expected now that the ESNtrain booking platform is open to everyone. From now on, everybody can register on the website <http://www.esntrain.org/en/booking>.
